The first uniform examination for teachers' certificates in the state was held June 21 and 22. Notwithstanding it was the first, the character of the questions, the recommendations as to the manner of conducting examinations, the excellent judgment displayed by the county examining boards and the carefulness in grading have been subjects of universal commendation. Whatever of mistake was made by him who prepared the questions, by examining boards in grading or fixing time limits, or by nervous teachers will largely disappear as all parties become more accustomed to the new regime.

The National Education asso

Superintendent Carrington was one of the nine members of the committee on resolutions and is responsible for for the following statements: (1) "The public school should be the center of the educational life of the district. The public library, extension courses for both old and young, literary and social meetings should be vital parts of the school work;" (2) "The publie school system should be a unit from the kindegarten to the university and all private and endowed institutions should work in harmony with the ideals of public education so far as it is consistent with the purposes for which established."
